Melon Crop Two Weeks Late; Fruit Crop Cut Short

The watermelon crop in Southeastern Missouri and Northeastern Arkansas will be about two weeks late this year on account of the cool and wet weather, and is not expected to begin moving before the latter part of July, according to Leary Benson, traveling freight agent for the Frisco railroad, who returned Friday from a trip through Missouri and Arkansas to arrange for transportation for the melon and fruit crops along the Frisco line. The watermelon acreage is estimated at 5,000 acres and transportation is being arranged for 2,750 carloads.

The peach and apple crop is expected to be light, at most points amounting to only about one-half the normal crop. At Koshongong, Mo., the heaviest peach shipping point, about 180 cars will be required to move the crop, which is about half the number usually required. At some points only about 10 per cent of the normal apple crop is expected and in many places the quality will be poor.

The wheat is very heavy everywhere and will be the principal crop upon which the farmers will depend. Many farmers have had to replant their corn. Mr. Benson says, on account of the wet weather.

New Oil Mill Will Be One Of Biggest

A. A. Munnell, manager of the local branch of Huggler Bros., has begun work on the Shultz Cotton Oil mill for Swift & Co. upon a scale that bids fair to result in the largest cottonseed crusher in this part of the country. It will be the biggest in the belt.

The main building will be 105 by 236 feet, two stories high, of reinforced concrete. There will be no gins, as at the big Bucoy plant, but a combination of ginning and drying building, 105 by 167 feet, four stories high. The greatest of seed can be dried there and then stored in tanks of concrete and the 50 feet high and 46 feet in diameter. Eight of these will hold 10,000 tons of seed without heating.

The hull house, 108 by 120 feet, and the office, 50 by 100 feet, will be of slow-burning construction. The plant is located on the Pigeon Road road at the intersection of the Hollyford road, the buildings alone will cover eight acres.

RECEIVES RECORDS OF FOUR LOCAL SUSPECTS

Through finger prints and Bertillon measurements taken by Paul N. Wagner, identification expert of the Memphis police department and forwarded to federal prison Tuesday, within an hour after the arrest of James Connors, R. E. Wilson and Dominick Masino by Memphis detectives and police, who charged them with being postoffice safe robbers, reports of their alleged criminal records were received Friday from the United States prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kas.

It showed that Connors, alias Moore, alias O'Neill, had served five years at Leavenworth and five years in the Ohio state prison in Columbus.

R. E. Wilson served two years in the state prison at Huntsville, Tex. Dominick Masino, known as Carlo Bruno, had a police record at Joplin, Mo., the report shows.
